

About us

Nurses at Penn Understanding Sexuality in Healthcare (Nurses PUSH) is Penn's first nursing student organization dedicated to understanding LGBT health concerns from a nursing perspective and addressing barriers towards culturally competent care for the LGBT patient. Though housed in the School of Nursing, the group welcomes any and all interested students and faculty from across the different schools at Penn, whether LGBT or Allies.

We aim to...

- Stimulate members of the LGBT and Allied community to achieve their full potential in their careers as nurses, educators, and leaders.
- Promote a welcoming, non-judgmental space for nursing students working to push for culturally sound LGBT patient care.
- Provide supplementary education to other nursing students, staff, and faculty about issues specific to LGBT patients.
- Demonstrate the value of diversity.

Interested in joining?

Contact Michael Kegerreis (keger@nursing.upenn.edu) for information about meetings.