Answers to Typical Questions

Questions are always answered gladly in our office because they indicate gratifying interest in our new endeavor. I should like to pose a few of the questions which are asked so frequently by our correspondents that I think it safe to assume some of you are turning them over in your minds now.

QUESTION: Can you send a representative to visit our school to help us determine whether we are ready for accreditation?—or—Can you send someone to our state to quickly evaluate our schools, then tell us specifically what we need to do in preparing for accreditation?

I am sorry to report that a consultant service is not available at this time, since lack of finances and additional qualified personnel make it prohibitive. However, we have set up a procedure to serve the same ends and, in the long run, it may be more effective. One purpose of last year’s workshops in various sections of the country was to prepare a nucleus of workers in each area who would continue the study and aid others in the various states.

Self-study and self-analysis are encouraged in all fields. At this time, when so many changes are taking place in the health field, it would seem most important that every community of any size should have its study groups. Philosophies and over-all trends can be studied in current educational and nursing literature as well as in the well-known classics in nursing education published since 1917.

QUESTION: Can you send a speaker from your Service to discuss accreditation and what we need to do to prepare for it?

In a few instances it has been possible to give to the inquirer a list of names of persons who are familiar with the work carried on. However, no one knows better than those persons on the home front what specifically needs to be done. So again, you are encouraged to form study groups to begin evaluation of your programs.

QUESTION: What type of measuring rod will you apply in evaluating a program?

Like many other educational institutions, schools of nursing have passed through a period of standardization of quantitative rather than qualitative measure. At one time, those of us who were interested in nursing service wanted to know exactly the personnel needed for a unit of so many beds, when the real crux of the matter should have been how sick the occupants of the beds were, and the type of care each required. A check list (good, fair, poor) was a mechanical means of evaluating not only an institution but, in many instances, a person doing a job. It was, indeed, a subjective evaluation without a comprehensive view.

The Manual of Accrediting Educational Programs in Nursing contains certain specific criteria. It is believed that standards described therein are sufficiently specific to provide adequate safeguards and are also pliable enough to permit growth and experimentation with new ideas. Could not each school determine its present practices, then establish its own goals, both long-term and immediate?

QUESTION: Why do you wish our philosophy and aims stated in such detail?

It is presumed that you are gearing your program at a professional level in order to meet the consumer's needs today, otherwise you would be preparing another group of workers—the nonprofessional. It is therefore necessary that you state clearly what you are aiming to do, in order that representatives and members of the boards of review can judge you on effectiveness in attaining these goals.

QUESTION: Is the process of accrediting more costly in nursing than it is in other professions?

From information at hand, it would appear that accreditation in nursing is less expensive to the school than accreditation in certain other fields. Under our plan, the largest fee is the visitation fee, and certainly no one school ever pays for many visits. There is never more than one application fee. Our annual fee is nominal, whereas in some fields the annual fee is larger than our visitation fee, and is an expense that is repeated year after year.

In some way—whether by visitation fees, annual dues in an association, or contributions—accreditation must be paid for. If a foundation could be interested in assisting us, fees could be lowered, but there appears to be no possibility of such help at this time.

QUESTION: What types of reports do we submit? How do we apply for accreditation and when are payments made?

A letter of application is submitted to NNAS, following which you will receive application blanks (one set with instructions for each program which you wish evaluated). After these blanks are filled out, they are returned to NNAS with the application fee enclosed, $50 for one program, $75 for two, and $100 for more than two, if they are in the same educational institution.

If the members of the board of review believe that you are ready for a visit, a schedule, requiring more detailed information, will be mailed you with specific instructions. This is completed and returned to the Service.

When dates are established for the visit, the director of the school will receive a letter with further specific information as to the length of time the visitors will remain, the hotel holding their reservations, and the expense of the visit, which should be met one week before the visitors arrive. Each school approved completes an annual report and pays a fee which is the same in amount as the application fee.

Briefly, then, there are two forms to complete and two fees to pay, before a school is accredited: the application form and the application fee; the schedule form (if the board approves visit) and the visitation fee. All schools approved will thereafter complete an annual report blank and pay an annual fee. The latter will be reviewed by the appropriate board each year, which will determine the eligibility of the program for continued approval.

QUESTION: Are the representatives who make the visits selected only from those schools whose programs have been approved?

No. Many nurses who are eminently qualified to serve have accepted positions in schools not as yet approved, but which are preparing to make application for accreditation. Many members of our profession have urged that young nurses be asked to serve when they are qualified, for the Service may profit now from their enthusiasm and new ideas, and also build a foundation of experience for the NNAS of the future.

QUESTION: Will your Service evaluate affiliating areas for students in basic programs?

Yes, if the program has been active—that is, if facilities have been used for students in affiliating programs for several months.

QUESTION: How long must a new program be in operation before it will be accepted for evaluation?

I believe the board of review would ask that it be about ready to graduate its first class.

QUESTION: Are practical nurse programs included for evaluation in NNAS?

No. We are a young service and are not taking over the work now being done by other groups. However, it is planned to invite the NAPNE accrediting service to cooperate as soon as we can expand.

QUESTION: Are programs for men nurses evaluated by different criteria than those for women?

Every program is evaluated on the basis of how well it is attaining the professional objectives which are stated for that program. In January 1950 the NLNE Board of Directors accepted the recommendation made by its Committee on Curriculum, "that there should be no differentiation in the basic professional nursing curriculum for men and women since men nurses are licensed for general nursing and not for specialties."

QUESTION: May a school on the accredited list establish affiliations in institutions not accredited, or accept students for affiliations from non-accredited institutions and still maintain its status?

Yes, at the present, but their programs must be adequate.

QUESTION: What is the difference between classification and accreditation?

While the interim classification of schools was not carried on by the NNAS, it is a rough screening device and is related to accreditation. Ninety-seven per cent of all schools of nursing in the country participated in this project voluntarily, and the result was the "Interim Classification of Schools of Nursing Offering Basic Programs (1949)," which appeared in the form, Nursing Schools at the Mid-Century, will be available in September.

The publication of the list made history, although it had the limitations of any statistical study whose source data are derived from questionnaires rather than from visits by representatives. For more than two decades the need for such a list has been felt, and it is reported that numerous other attempts to draw up such a list were thwarted. However, despite certain acknowledged imperfections, the list now published is useful to advisers of academic students, and to candidates for schools of nursing and their families. Even greater than this is the value to schools themselves of both the list and the book which will report the findings of the Committee on School Data Analysis. There is considerable evidence that schools already are attempting to evaluate themselves. The publication of the report in September should give further impetus to self-appraisal and progress toward definite goals by individual schools. Both publications should be useful to state leagues as a basis for concentrated effort to improve schools.

Since this kind of self-improvement of schools is one of the objectives of the Accrediting Service, the question is how can these first steps to identify schools on a valid basis be used in the accrediting process. While it has been agreed in principle that, in the future, the NNAS will assume the responsibility of the work previously planned by the National Committee for the Improvement of Nursing Services, it must be emphasized that the classification list was based upon the analysis of written reports provided voluntarily by schools. The accreditation list was based upon the analysis of findings resulting from written reports, a comprehensive visit, and other materials.

A number of inquiries are coming from students and from candidates for admission to schools, asking why particular schools are not on the list.
Another frequent request from students is for "all information available on the subject of accreditation." You may be assured that we are happy to have their interest.

The schools themselves are responding well to this long-range plan for accreditation. The NNAS expects to publish another list of accredited programs in the American Journal of Nursing early in 1951, and supplemental lists throughout the year. The cooperation offered the Service from many sources is most encouraging.

The most natural hesitancy over undertaking the evaluation procedure—not unlike the individual's qualms before an examination—is giving way to a conviction that:

With outside pressure, most of us will perform the duties we should, even though left to ourselves we might partially or completely neglect them. Hence, far from being a threat, accreditation will become your school's greatest protection.

This statement is based not on theoretical considerations, but on the history of accreditation in other areas. In the fields of medical, dental, and legal education, for example, accreditation is the only process that has succeeded in removing quackery and shysters, in outlawing the school with the profit motive.4

It is extremely important that accreditation can help mediocre schools to become good. It is of infinitely greater significance that accreditation can help good schools to become better. The increase of specialized knowledge in nursing must inevitably be accelerated. We can no longer teach only factual material. We must, in addition, teach principles and sources of knowledge; we must impart those social and scientific understandings through which the individual can meet problems independently, and can become a well-rounded, participating citizen.

Schools of nursing must aid individuals to develop their latent powers; must stimulate them to think critically, and must take their share in generating that leadership which people need for inspiration and guidance. Because what is taught in the nursing curriculum affects the very lives of people, schools of nursing must teach living in its broadest, deepest, and most responsible aspects. The NNAS aims to help the schools of nursing so that they may offer their students this kind of education.

DISCUSSION

Marion W. Sheahan, director of programs of the National Committee for the Improvement of Nursing Services, spoke briefly on the proposed second survey of schools of nursing, pointing out the possible advantages of temporary accreditation over a second classification of schools. Both Miss Sheahan and Miss Miller then answered questions in relation to temporary accreditation. A similar discussion occurred at the opening business session, a complete summary of which may be found on pages 183-187.

4Reinert, Paul C., op. cit.
The investigations and reflections presented herein are admittedly only a small part of the vast subject. The particular approach chosen, the psychological and cultural aspects, represents more an attempt at adoption of an attitude toward the study of many problems facing the nursing profession than any conclusive work. The invitation that I received to speak to you asked that I stress the point of view which recognizes that there are basic human needs regardless of culture, and that I consider in my remarks ways in which the nurse with her knowledge of these needs could develop greater understanding and give more valuable nursing service. The title “Human Needs and Nursing” does seem to emphasize the need for nurses to understand basic human needs and, in understanding them, give greater service. There is still another point of view, that is, the recognition that this problem is inextricably bound up with the human needs of nurses themselves. I intend to deal with both aspects.

Historically, the first element to be considered is the recognition of the nature of the patient which led to the creation of nursing as a profession. In the days before the era of schools of nursing, the religious, military, and scientific forces exerted a strong influence on women to nurse the sick. All of these forces held a more or less tacit assumption that it was the woman who understood the needs of the sick person better than the man. Centuries ago, without recourse to the terminology of the scientific psychology, recognition that the sick individual regresses under the impact of an overwhelming illness over which he has no control led to the axiomatic if not intuitive conclusion that such a regressed individual is best cared for by a woman. The weakness, the pain, the distress, and the helplessness of the sick individual resemble somewhat the natural state of a helpless infant or child. Therefore, it is not accidental that the term “nursing” should have come to be applied to care of the ill. After all, the mother is the first therapist, and it is toward a mother figure that a sick person turns for relief. Consciously a sick person may have forgotten the magical cures effected early in life by the mother’s warmth, gentle touch, tender handling, and the magical kiss that made pain disappear. But the body remembers even when the mind does not; when someone is reduced to helplessness by sickness, the tendency is to crave those things that made him feel better in the past. Now many excellent textbooks in nursing, especially psychiatric nursing, go into extensive detail concerning these needs, their elaboration, and how they can be met from the scientific point of view. There is no longer any doubt that, at least to a certain extent, what was done largely on an intuitive basis in the past can now be imparted to others. This field has now become the task of the nursing educator.

This concept of the nurse as a sort of scientifically trained mother-substitute somehow does not quite jibe with the observed facts. Once more we can take recourse to history to point out some of the disconcerting complications and contradictions which affected this concept. I wish first to point out the traditional attitude that there is something holy about nursing, as if it were practically a religious calling. Florence Nightingale herself put it in this way, "I do entirely and consistently believe that the religious motive is essential for the highest kind of nurse." From this and other expressed attitudes the tradition of nursing has been infused with an idealized spirituality that somehow or other has not been maintained as universally as might be desired. Attempts are still made to instill in student nurses a feeling of nobility and something of this "priestess" motif. My own observations in these present times lead me to believe that if a nurse does not bring some of these ideals with her when she enters the nursing profession, it is most unlikely that she will attain them during her nursing school years. There are numerous derivatives of the idealized picture of a nurse existing in the older writings, but for the compact picture, I know of no better delineation than that which appears in the delightful article by a West Coast doctor in which he gives his maxims for nurses written forty years ago.¹

Remember that, in assuming the vocation of nurses, you have also assumed a responsibility to reflect credit on the profession of your choice, by conducting yourselves at all times with becoming modesty, and while on duty, with unrelaxing dignity and decorum.

Remember that your first obligation is absolute fidelity to your patient, coupled with unswerving loyalty to your attending physician. Study carefully the letter and spirit of the word loyalty, and practice it unflinchingly toward the hospital and training school with which you have allied yourself and toward those in positions of authority.

Your patients will lean upon you for moral support and for human comfort while under the stress of pain and sickness, their self-reliance is at its lowest ebb. Learn to be equal to these demands, which you will meet, not by volunteering sympathy, or by protestations of attention, but by the spirit of willing service, and animated by your love of humanity, the close attention to the duties of a nurse.

Remember that under no circumstances are you to discuss with your patients, other patients, or physicians, matters pertaining to the management of the training school or hospital with which you are connected.

Efforts to engage you in these discussions by your patients, who intend no harm, will try your courage, but should be met by polite and tactful silence or evasion.

Failure to observe this rule will destroy your usefulness as nurses and is unforgivable.

Remember that there is a time and place for all things, and that the hours of duty and that the wards, hall, or other precincts of a hospital, are not those for social converse, or interchange of pleasantries.

Avoid congregating in groups of three or four, do not indulge in laughter or loud talking.

Never conceal or pardon an omission of duty on your own part; the intercession of your superior is necessary, to whom you should promptly and frankly report.

Never permit yourselves to relax in interest or enthusiasm in your work. Form the highest ideals of the beauty and dignity of your calling. Read the best books and exercise your purest imagination.

Never forget that you have a duty to yourselves. Preserve your minds and bodies by the exercise of rational rules of living; close attention to the hours of duty; thoughtful application in the hours of study; wholesome enjoyment in the hours of recreation; complete relaxation in the hours of rest.

These maxims would undoubtedly appear to a great majority of nurses and doctors as appropriate even today. Let us now inquire as to the implication of such rules for behavior so far as nurses are concerned. I venture the following are the feelings which dwell between the lines. It is implied that the perfect nurse is loyal, virtuous, asexual, solicitous, uncomplaining, and totally absorbed in her work alone. Let us ask further: Why the necessity for all of these maxims, unless it is implied that, if left to her own devices, the nurse may be disloyal, spontaneous, interested in men, and not interested in nursing? In other words, what such maxims and the usual rules in schools of nursing betray is the distrust of the human needs of nurses themselves.

What must have happened historically, then, between the time of the origin of nursing as a profession with high ideals, and a time not too long after the beginning of nursing schools, was the recognition that not all women who go into nursing are idealistically motivated and that authoritarian curbs may be necessary to keep them in line. It is my belief that this authoritarian attitude in itself is a single most important factor, in its attempted enforcement of ideals, in lowering the dignity and spiritual elements in the nursing profession. By contrast, the younger profession of social work is at present more attractive, gives and yields more personal satisfaction, because the spontaneous spirit is permitted to develop without the authoritarian attitude.

But progress is being made under the impact of more intelligent social and psychological factors; recognition of human needs in nurses themselves is at last coming to the fore. Witness the excellent remarks made two years ago by Dr. William C. Menninger: 2 "Any individual, including any nurse who becomes routinized and rigid, established and complacent, is falling short of her maximum self-realization or her greatest satisfactions. Such a state of affairs only means resignation. Nurses do not have to give up being women and citizens. It is unfortunate if they should give up their dreams and hopes for a home and family. Certainly, inside and outside of hospitals nurses are also citizens and live in communities. Never need any nurse permit herself to become an isolated, one-track spinster, and it is extremely unfortunate if the nursing profession, either because of its present make-up or because of its attitudes, ever permitted such a prospect to be accepted as the expected outlook of the nurse."

I have not forgotten that my topic relates to how nurses can best discharge requirements made of them. Nor have I forgotten the intention of relating their own needs to the needs of their profession. But there is still another large field which may give us important clues in this interrelationship. This has to do with an examination of the motives of those who go into nursing. In recent years there have been several studies on the problem of occupational choice. Two excellent studies have now been done on the nursing profession itself. What can we learn from these studies?

Before summarizing points from these studies and observations that I have made with the assistance of interested nursing supervisors, I shall make some remarks on the methods of these investigations. Most of my observations come from questionnaire and interview studies. It is very well known that such studies may touch only on superficial factors. Some of these observations have been implemented by a much more detailed study of individual nurses, which serves in the main to substantiate what was found out in more superficial investigations. Enough cogent material, however, is present to indicate that the forces which motivate people to enter the nursing profession are multiple: social, economic, and psychological.

The pitfalls of superficial modes of investigation are numerous. In one study, through the use of the questionnaire method, student nurses were asked about their future plans. When the questions were stated in a certain way, a high percentage of the answers indicated most students intended to stay in nursing. However, in another study when questions about future plans were phrased differently, the results indicated that the great majority of student nurses expected to be married and to have children five years after graduation. This single fact is of tremendous importance to those making plans for programs in the nursing profession for, up to now, it has been neglected. Is it worth the time and the money involved to train nurses for a highly skilled profession when the majority of them anticipate that it will be only a temporary endeavor? There are some who would probably be quite alarmed by this and would wish to make revisions in programs to secure some degree of assurance that women trained in the profession would stay in it. I, for one, am not particularly disturbed by this discovery, which, incidentally, has been known to nurses themselves for decades, but which has been treated as a sort of secret among ladies. Let us go on. What additional facts do these studies reveal which shed further light on the problem?

A relatively small percentage of nurses, a group in itself quite interesting psychologically, consists of those who have wanted to become nurses ever since the ages of four to six. Some had the choice of the profession foisted upon them by their mothers who had been frustrated in their hopes of becoming nurses themselves. Some were patients in hospitals in their early years and thereby were attracted to the profession because of a memory of kind treatment. The great majority of nurses seem largely to have been motivated in their adolescence.

A career of nursing is often chosen during high school years or earlier. It appears that girls who enter nursing do not, as a rule, drift into the profession without giving much thought to their choice. In studies of the vocational preferences of high school girls, nursing is found to be one of the vocations most often mentioned. . . .

This quotation represents fairly accurately the superficial attitude, but what has gone on in the crystallization of this attitude? We find the following composite picture: the high school girl would like to get away from home and be independent. She is only mildly motivated by altruistic and humanitarian motives. Occasionally a tinge of religious drive is present. She looks for a vocation with a certain amount of prestige value with economic safeguards. She would like to get married and have children, but is a little uncertain about how her marriage might work out and would like to have a good profession to fall back on in case it doesn’t or in case she never gets married. In some instances she would like to go to medical school but sees this as an economic impossibility and therefore chooses nursing as a substitute. Another psychological motive is present in some cases in which there is an expressed interest in the scientific aspects of nursing as a preparation for marriage, a sort of attempt at belated mastery of anxieties concerning body function. Anticipations of the nursing life are further muddled by the glamour of the uniform, fantasies of the role that may be played in the drama of life and death, fantasies of meeting and marrying a wealthy doctor or patient, and some vague hope that the training program will take care of personal deficiencies in relationships to people. Radio programs, magazine articles, and advertising copy for Kotex, penicillin, and sacroiliac belts concretize the confused vagueness of what is to be anticipated.

As to deeper psychological motives, it is most difficult to generalize because of paucity of material. In the relatively few cases where I have had an opportunity of studying deeper motives, the following factors were important: (1) strong identifications with mother figures; (2) strong reaction-formations which usually afford adequate means of denial of feelings of hostilities toward people; (3) an acting out of a fantasy of being very important to people and thereby obtaining love and, in turn, by ministering to the sick, giving evidence of love. In some a strong masochistic trend is present. For these, work constantly serves as a punishment for forbidden wishes. But I do not make too much of these isolated instances because it is an open question how universal these factors are.

What happens to our young women who go into schools of nursing? First, it is amazing to realize that from 27 to 39 percent of students\(^9\) withdraw from school prior to graduation. The total number of students so involved, I would venture to guess, is higher than in any other professional group. It actually amounts to thousands each year—a great loss the nursing profession can ill afford. When one examines the reasons for withdrawal, one finds the reason given for the highest percentage of withdrawal, "failure in class work." I have not had the opportunity of examining any extensive list of individuals who have so withdrawn, and from my limited experience I know that this "failure in class work" covers a multitude of other reasons which are definitely not scholastic. They are almost entirely due to difficulties in interpersonal relations in which the immaturity of the student nurse herself is but one factor. From my observations these factors are largely due to the continuation of the autocratic attitude toward a student nurse and failure to meet her own needs. Tremendous progress has been made in nursing education, but it has been pointed out that, in spite of the progress in the direction of democratic principles of education, the prevailing atmosphere is still an autocratic one. I suppose in all fields of professional apprenticeship and training the authoritarian setup is unavoidable. But there is still too much disbelief in the student nurse's ability to take care of herself, imposition of unreasonable restrictions and discipline, and demands of an unprofessional nature. It therefore takes a high degree of motivation and/or a high degree of masochistic absorption to withstand the indignities to which many students are subjected. These indignities come from three directions: (1) from immediate superiors who seem to take out on the student nurse what was once taken out on them; (2) from doctors who so frequently consider the student nurse as a mechanical instrument to carry out their wishes and not as a partner in a common endeavor; (3) from the public which seems to be increasingly concerned with the question of whether it is getting its money's worth and is unappreciative of what is being done. In this latter connection I should like to digress to a particularly interesting paradox which exists in our present-day culture, namely, that to an appreciable segment of our population the nurse is regarded as sexually loose and of easy virtue, whereas actually, as a group, nurses are quite prudish, moralistic, and inhibited. It is quite beside the theme of this paper to go into this cultural and psychological phenomenon.

Why are all these points raised? Do they have any bearing upon the general topic under discussion? I believe they have. One summary of the studies that have been made can be phrased in the following way. Unless a nurse is unusually and highly motivated out of religious or altruistic reasons (often quite unrealistically), or unless her particular neurotic personality factors suit her to her work, or unless she is socially and economically trapped, the training period of a student nurse does not permit much realistic satisfaction. The importance of all this is predicated upon what seems to be a valid assumption: that unless the nurse's human needs are met in her work, she will be unable to satisfy the human needs of her patients.

It is not merely an assumption that a happy nurse is a good one, that one who is able to attain satisfactions in her work and in her outside life is an effective nurse, and that the dissatisfied nurse takes it out either on her patients or on herself. There is a considerable amount of evidence to support this contention. What concerns us here is the pathogenic role that the autocratic system in nursing education and nursing administration plays. The dynamics involved are relatively simple. There are instances of failures in women in nursing which are not at all due to our nursing education system. Some young women bring to the school immature, unrealistic, and neurotic attitudes which the curriculum cannot possibly set straight or correct. However, in these and even in relatively normal young women, an autocratic attitude with its repressive over-restrictions and over-disciplinary measures, brings about regressive changes which threaten their psychic equilibrium. Unresolved parental conflicts are, as a result, frequently intensified. Most significant in my observations of nurses is that there is no healthy outlet or sublimation for the hostilities engendered from the frustrations they suffer; the net result is the taking out of hostilities chiefly on themselves. This I believe is one of the chief psychological factors responsible for the major complaint of nurses, chronic fatigue, which operates in conjunction with real external factors which undoubtedly exist.

The significance of this point is also a simple one. One cannot expect individuals whose mode of life is on a regressive level because of an imposed regime to treat adequately patients who are also functioning on a regressive level because of illness. (In a way this statement then is not entirely correct, because it has been done and it is being done after a fashion through direct and indirect intimidation and the subtleties of superior office, but our concern here is not the training of automatons but the gratification of human needs in human ways.) By and large, a nurse in a state of conflict because of her inability to obtain sufficient affection from others will find it very difficult to give any to patients. A nurse inhibiting her hostile tendencies will occasionally take them out on the patient. Examples of this sort can be multiplied a thousandfold. What one sees is that the nurse, after years of battling with her problems, develops a chronic syndrome of fatigue, indifference, and partly controlled bitterness.

The excellent recommendations of the Committee on the Function of Nursing\(^{10}\) give evidence of the recognition of these defects. All I have attempted to do herein is to give substantiation to the aim of the program advanced by the committee through some investigation of the psychological factors involved. To combat regressive possibilities and to facilitate the development of student nurses toward maturity, some measures are clearly indicated from the psychological point of view: (1) the presence of strong, respected, and understanding leaders, so that a nurse may have the opportunity for healthy indentifications; (2) a cohesive and cooperative group life to give those members of the group who need it most strength from the group itself; (3) more democratic attitudes; (4) the lessening of restrictions in the pursuit of real satisfactions as well as sublimations. In this latter connection I should like to mention that it has been called to my attention that marriage of student nurses is not opposed in some schools of nursing. Where these restrictions have been lifted there has been no regret on the part of the administrators. A happier nurse is a better nurse. Apparently once more in another field the idea that sexual repression is necessary to the attainment of satisfactory educational goals is not substantiated.

The task is not an easy one, especially since whatever is attempted in these directions can be very easily nullified by external changes, social, economic, and political, in this country. But despite these factors over which the nursing profession has no control, it must, with the help of the allied professions, strive in the direction of making the nurse a happier person. A little less masochistic sacrifice and a little more personal satisfaction is a good slogan.

CLOSING BUSINESS SESSION
Friday, May 12—8:30–10:30 a.m.

The closing business session was called to order at 8:30 a.m. on Friday by Agnes Gelinas, the president. The roll call indicated that representatives of 41 state leagues were present. Convention registration to noon, May 11, was announced as follows: general, 4,527; student, 704; exhibitor, 540.

\(^{10}\)Committee on the Function of Nursing. op. cit.
PRINCIPLES RELATING TO ORGANIZATION, CONTROL, AND ADMINISTRATION OF NURSING EDUCATION

Ruth Sleeper, chairman of the committee which drafted the tentative revision of the NLNE Statement of Principles Relating to Organization, Control, and Administration of Nursing Education, presented a redraft of the statement with further revisions as had been suggested at the meeting of the Council of State Leagues and at the opening business session. Among the revisions was a preamble emphasizing the fact that the principles were long-range rather than short-term goals which would be accomplished "through a process of study and planning which will proceed gradually, which will be constructive, and which will not undermine the welfare of the public."

Practical Nurse Education

Clara Quereau (New York), speaking as a state board representative, was still dissatisfied with the statement on practical nurse education which, as she had pointed out previously, permitted courses in practical nursing to be included in the regular high school curriculum. If this were allowed, in some states there would be no control over practical nurse programs except through vocational education.

Describing the situation in New York, Miss Quereau said that at the present time there are eighteen registered schools for practical nurse education, and that those conducted by state educational institutions are on an adult education level. The state board is much more in favor of programs on this level, inasmuch as an experimental program on the senior-year high school level had been a complete failure. The high school students accepted for the program were an unstable group; all were uncertain about wanting to continue, and a large proportion of them dropped out. Those who completed the high school course and went on to the hospital training part of the program proved to be unsatisfactory; they were either too young or required too much supervision. An additional number dropped out there. The number finally completing the program was a very small percentage of the original group, and of these students only about one-third passed the licensure examination.

Miss Quereau said further that persons in the field of vocational education have made statements that they would persist until they had practical nurse programs in every high school in the state. They have said also that students in these programs would be "turned loose in the hospitals" for a period of perhaps six months, after which they would be eligible for a license. Such a license, Miss Quereau pointed out, would give absolutely no assurance to the public that the individual was competent to practice nursing. While she might have some knowledge of housekeeping responsibilities and some training in those principles of motherhood which every woman should be capable of carrying out, it would be a great mistake to call her a nurse. For these reasons, Miss Quereau again made the plea for NLNE support in keeping practical nurse education on an adult education level.

Mildred I. Lorentz (Illinois), speaking for the committee which had redrafted the statement of principles, said that it was not the thinking of the members to set the twelfth grade as the optimum level for practical nurse programs; the twelfth grade was considered the lowest level, beneath which programs should not be established. Adelaide A. Mayo, executive director of the League, who had been a member of the U. S. Office of Education committee which prepared the Practical Nurse Curriculum, reported that this group was definitely in favor of practical nurse programs on an adult education level. However, since there were some committee members who believed that the twelfth grade, or senior year of high school, should be included as the lowest level at which courses might be offered, this principle was accepted and appears in all materials on practical nursing prepared by the U. S. Office of Education.

Alma E. Gault (Tennessee) wanted to know if "senior year high school level" inferred that a person must have three years of high school in order to take a course in practical nursing. Miss Mayo replied that, to her knowledge, this terminology had been used only for the purpose of checking the trend to include practical nurse courses in the high school curriculum which reached down into the freshman, sophomore, and junior years.

With regard to all vocational education, Madeleine McConnell (Illinois) brought out the point that oftentimes girls who really would make good college material later are urged to take up some form of vocational training in high school. Therefore, it would be a great mistake for the League, as a national organization concerned with nursing education, to support any vocational training in high schools that is related to nursing.

Miss Sleeper pointed out that when the League had agreed to work with the U. S. Office of Education on an analysis of practical nursing and on the Practical Nurse Curriculum, it was with the understanding that practical nurse programs were to be placed under vocational education. If, before the Practical Nurse Curriculum is published, the League comes out with a statement that practical nurse education should be on an adult education level, what of the integrity of the League in terms of its relationship to the U. S. Office of Education?

Miss Mayo replied that inasmuch as the material to appear in the Practical Nurse Curriculum was written well over a year ago it might be said that in the span of a year the League had progressed in its thinking. Enlarging on this statement, she explained that the curriculum material had been in preparation for several years and that the committee had worked very hard to have it completed by June of 1949 because the U. S. Office of Education promised it would be published by 1950 at the latest. This promise was not fulfilled and the manuscript is only now at the printing office, with a publication date set for sometime in the fall. Therefore, some allowance should be made for the thinking expressed therein, since ideas and trends in nursing education can change considerably in a year.

Julia Hereford (Tennessee) then suggested that the principles might be revised to say that practical nurse education should (1) be under adult education, (2) be offered no earlier than the twelfth grade, and (3) require a prerequisite of three years of high school, but Miss Quereau disagreed, pointing out that adult education and twelfth grade were not synonymous; they contradicted each other. Anna Wolf (Maryland) was of the opinion that educational prerequisites and the level of practical nurse education were two ideas and should not be combined in one statement. She proposed that, since the League has stated the desired minimum prerequisites for professional nurse education in its principles, it should do so for practical nurse education. Then, in a separate statement, it should go on record as to where it believed practical nurse programs might best fit into the educational system.

Miss Sleeper asked: "Can a minimum educational requirement be set for adult education programs, or is admission based upon experience so that adult education is available to anyone capable of doing the work?" Elizabeth Moran (Michigan) replied that in Detroit aptitude tests are given for admission to practical nurse programs. The lowest acceptable score is on the seventh grade level and the average score is on the ninth grade level, but there are applicants with much higher scores, some of whom are high school and even college graduates who are unable to study in the professional field because of age or family responsibilities. Frances George (Pennsylvania) said that she would oppose any statement specifying a minimum number of years of high school preparation for admission to practical nurse programs on an adult education level, for the reason that many persons lacking a formal education have had experience equivalent to, or beyond, a three-year high school education. Miss Quereau said that New York state law requires only eight elementary units of education for admission, yet a large percentage of those admitted are either high school graduates or older women, with the result that there is a definite trend to place practical nurse education on the post-high school level.

With regard to the placement of practical nurse programs, Miss Moran said that there are eight centers for practical nurse education in Detroit which, although they are under the Board of Education, are in the trade schools. However, the general opinion is that they should be separated from the trade schools so that conformity to shop hours and other procedures could be eliminated. M. Annie Leitch (Michigan) added that in Grand Rapids plans are already under way to place practical nurse education in junior colleges. Both agreed that the practical nurse education problem in Michigan is one of placement rather than instruction, inasmuch as the same level of instruction is maintained in all programs and, except in nutrition courses, all instructors are nurse instructors. Miss Quereau said that practical nurse schools in New York state are using vocational education facilities which are maintained by vocational education funds, but that the nursing programs are under adult education. There is a possibility of experimenting with such programs in junior colleges in an effort to keep practical nurse education from getting rooted in high schools.

Miss Sleeper then asked the membership (1) if they wished to let the present statement on practical nurse education stand, with a statement added relative to the preference of placing programs under adult education, or (2) if they wished to have a new statement to the effect that practical nurse programs should be placed on the adult education level and in adult education programs? The second motion was adopted almost unanimously.

Eugenia K. Spalding, chairman of the Committee to Consider Federal Legislation on Nursing Education, referred to the implications which the statement of principles might have with regard to the League's opinion concerning legislation for federal aid for nursing education, particularly practical nurse education. She pointed out that, in legislation currently pending in Congress, no provision had been made for federal financial assistance for practical nurse programs conducted by private educational institutions. Margaret Foley (Missouri) stated that, insofar as practical nurse programs operated by Catholic institutions are concerned, these are all conducted by hospitals rather than by educational institutions, and that provision had been made in the pending legislation for federal financial assistance to hospital-controlled practical nurse programs; furthermore, the nursing organizations had gone on record as approving this pending legislation. Mrs. Spalding explained that, when testimony had been given on the pending legislation, the Committee to Consider Federal Legislation on Nursing Education had had no statement of philosophy regarding federal aid for practical nurse education similar to that which had guided its testimony on professional nursing education. She inquired whether the statement of principles should serve as the future guide to the committee with regard to practical nurse education. Miss Sleeper replied in the affirmative.

Basic Professional Nursing Education

Theodora Floyd (Georgia), expressing the opinion of the Board of Directors of the Georgia league, said that there should be more emphasis on adequate clinical facilities and faculty in the statement on basic professional nursing education, as the quality of a program is more important than the question of where that program is conducted—in the university or in the hospital school of nursing. Margaret Foley (Missouri) then brought out the fact that one of the current problems in nursing education was the rush of hospital schools toward affiliations with colleges, resulting in so-called collegiate programs which were not sound. She asked what effect the revised statement of principles would have in controlling this rush and in explaining further how proper mergers with institutions of higher education should be made. Miss Sleeper replied that the rush toward affiliations could be stemmed only if responsible persons in schools of nursing were willing to study the needs of their particular schools and to exercise judgment in building educational programs. In the introduction to the principles (paragraph 4) the fact was stressed that mergers with colleges or universities should be accomplished only through a process of study and planning "which will proceed gradually, will be constructive, and will not undermine the welfare of the public."

Miss Foley next requested an interpretation of the phrase, "independent institution empowered by the state to grant appropriate degrees," in the first principle on basic professional nursing education. Miss Sleeper defined the phrase as meaning either a junior college, a college, or a university, and explained that the committee had used this particular terminology so that the school of nursing could be placed under any one of the three—all of which might differ in terms of degrees granted—and still be covered by the statement.

Bertha Frook (Illinois) made the following motion, which was seconded by Dana Hudson (Georgia):

Realizing that the number of diploma schools of nursing exceed by far the number of university schools of nursing, and realizing that in essence the NLNE represents the interests of the majority of its membership, I submit the following recommendations in the interest of the diploma schools of nursing and the public:
The principles before us as outlined by the committee on principles will make it necessary to place in the hands of practical nurses the bedside care of the sick because:

1. Remuneration for bedside nursing service will not attract an adequate number of nurse students into university schools.
2. There are not enough university schools nor will there be for a long time to prepare enough nurses to take care of the public need.
3. There is no proof in evidence that practical nurses will give better bedside care than do our present professional nurses.
4. There is no proof in evidence that university schools prepare better bedside nurses. Those who are graduates of such schools do not work at the bedside but rather in supervisory or administrative positions and therefore have not demonstrated their ability in bedside care.
5. Of the number of prospective students interviewed at my school, only one in twenty has shown any interest in a degree program.
6. Nurses in 1941 were given professional status by our federal government. The leaders of our country did not discriminate against graduates from diploma schools of nursing in giving professional status.
WHEREAS, The above facts are true, I move, Madame Chairman, that the principles be revised to read

1. That basic professional nursing education remain in hospital schools of nursing conducting accredited diploma schools of nursing
2. That University Programs be encouraged to provide educational preparation for those nurses who desire to prepare for fields other than bedside nursing
3. That hospital schools of nursing be given the support and help of the NLNE to establish degree programs under the control of the hospital school of nursing.

In discussing the motion, Martha Keaton (Oklahoma) said that her state had nothing but hospital schools of nursing, and she did not believe it was the intention of the League to bring about the immediate dissolution of such schools. Her statement was confirmed by Miss Sleeper, who referred again to paragraph 4 of the introduction to the principles, adding that the League would be absolutely opposed to anything which would deprive a state of the nursing service it needed and which its own schools could provide. Miss McConnell was of the opinion that the value of all schools of nursing was clearly recognized in paragraph 1, and that nurse educators should look to the League for leadership under the policies set forth in the principles. Another member pointed out that the objectives of many of the university and hospital schools are identical—to care for the sick, to help in the prevention of disease, and to teach health—but that the university schools are extending their concept of the care of the sick beyond patients in hospital beds in an attempt to prepare their students to care for the sick anywhere and in all situations.

Miss Hudson, representing the Georgia Baptist Hospital School of Nursing, asserted that she was interested in the motion from the standpoint of the religious schools, which she believed had quite a lot at stake inasmuch as religious educational programs in schools of nursing would suffer if nursing education were placed in universities. Miss Lorentz, speaking for the committee, called attention to paragraph 2 of the introduction in which there was no designation of the placement of nursing education in any particular type of educational institution other than one whose main function is to prepare qualified nurses and whose primary purpose is education. Louise Carlson (Pennsylvania) suggested that other issues were being confused with principles. She reminded the members that nothing remains static in education and that the trend is toward ever-increasing education for everyone. She therefore proposed that, inasmuch as it is clearly stated that the League principles are not to be considered in terms of immediate implementation, the committee be complimented on its presentation and the results of its work be endorsed.

Miss Ebrook then reread the motion, which was put to a vote and was lost.

Mildred Cox (Georgia) said that the League had been severely criticized by many because of the lack of emphasis on service in the statement of principles, and questioned the committee's thinking on this point. Miss Sleeper referred to paragraphs 2 and 6 in the introduction, both of which emphasize nursing service. She added that it was not the thinking of the committee to stress the obligation of the nurse to service because that is in the platform of the American Nurses’ Association; the principles set forth by the NLNE are in relation to the educational preparation of nurses in order that they might be equipped to carry out their functions.

It was moved by Anna D. Wolf (Maryland) and seconded by Stella Goostray (Massachusetts) that the statement of principles, with such revisions as had been proposed at the meeting, be accepted. The motion was put to a rising vote and was carried.

The statement of principles as adopted reads as follows:

Statement of Principles Relating to Organization, Control, and Administration of Nursing Education

Although the practice of placing professional nursing education in colleges and universities was initiated over thirty years ago, the majority of basic professional schools of nursing are still conducted by hospitals. It is a recognized fact that the graduates of these schools, with the graduates of collegiate schools, have made and are making a great and essential contribution to the health services of the nation. Nurses today, however, are called upon to serve in a broad field of community nursing including care of people in hospitals, homes, industries, schools, and other community agencies. The function of the school of nursing is to prepare nurses qualified to meet the needs of this broad field, a preparation which can best be provided by the school whose primary purpose is education.

In a democratic country, students of nursing should have opportunity equal to that of students preparing for other fields of social endeavor, and every profession should assume the obligation for maintaining its educational standards at the level which will serve the public needs most effectively.

The National League of Nursing Education appreciates the fact that changes toward the administration, organization, and control of schools of nursing, as implied in these principles, must be accomplished necessarily through a process of study and planning which will proceed gradually, which will be constructive, and which will not undermine the welfare of our public.

Nursing education, in common with other types of education, should be the charge of the educational institutions of the country, public and private. Formulation of policies and the administration of programs of nursing education are the prerogative and responsibility of professional nurses.

Nurses recognize that the most economical service possible must be rendered to the community, provided the health of the community is protected. Nurses also recognize that there is a need for differentiation of service, which requires a differentiation of preparation. Every prospective student in nursing must have assurance that her education will be adequate to give her competence and satisfaction in future service. In like manner, those who are served by nurses should be assured that the type of nursing care needed will be available.

Since nursing service will require varying degrees of knowledge and skill, nursing education must provide preparation for professional nurses and for practical nurses. It is assumed the nursing service departments will provide in-service training programs for all nursing service personnel.
Basic Professional Nursing Education. Education of professional nurses should be an integral part of an institution of higher education, either public or private, or should be in a school conducted as an independent institution empowered by the state to grant appropriate degrees. The basic professional nursing program should include or be built upon at least two years of general collegiate education and should provide the student with learning experiences in all clinical nursing areas, these learning experiences to be under the guidance of qualified faculty members.

Advanced Professional Nursing Education. Advanced programs in professional nursing should be an integral part of a university, either public or private, and should be built upon a basic collegiate nursing education.

Administration and Control of Educational Programs for Professional Nursing. Programs of nursing education should be administered and controlled by a university or other similar degree-granting educational institution with appropriate contractual arrangements with service agencies and other educational agencies for nursing practice. These programs should be the responsibility of the appropriate administrative officer who should be a professional nurse.

It is recognized that a majority of the schools of nursing in the country are now controlled and administered by hospitals. It is anticipated that this situation will change as those schools with adequate faculty and clinical facilities take steps to enrich their programs, to reorganize them, and to seek university or college support for their administration and control. All programs in nursing within universities should be established on the same basis as other professional programs within the university.

Practical Nursing Education. Education of practical nurses should be a part of an adult education program and should be an integral part of an educational institution, public or private.

Administration and Control of Educational Programs for Practical Nursing. Programs for practical nursing education should be administered and controlled by an educational institution with appropriate contractual arrangements with service agencies for nursing practice. These programs should be the responsibility of the professional nurse.

Education of professional nurses and education of practical nurses may be carried on in the same educational institutions. Wherever two such curricula are set up in the same institution, provision for an adequate number and differentiation in function of qualified faculty members should be made. Adequate practice fields for both curricula should also be provided.

Financial Support for Nursing Education. As the education of citizens is a public responsibility, money from public and private sources should support nursing education. Funds should be made available for the development of instructional facilities, scholarships, and research.

Approval. All schools and programs of education in nursing (advanced professional, basic professional, and practical nursing) should be approved by appropriate state, regional, and national approving agencies.

Discussion on Structure

After reading the revision in the Bylaws1 which provides for voting by mail, the president asked for suggestions on the forthcoming vote on structure, pointing out that the League had indicated to the entire membership that the vote would be taken sometime following the convention.

1See Bylaws—Article III, page 281.
It was moved by Anna D. Wolf (Maryland), seconded, and carried that the NLNE Board of Directors give consideration to the distribution of a ballot on the question of structure at the earliest possible date following the convention.

A poll of League members in the audience showed the majority to be in favor of the two-organization plan as opposed to status quo.

The president then asked if the question of a one-organization plan could be eliminated from the ballot in the vote by mail, leaving only a choice between two structure plans—the two-organization plan and status quo. Mary Kelly (Michigan) asked how this would affect the League in light of the decision by the Joint Board of the Six National Nursing Organizations that each organization call its membership on the basis of three questions. Miss Gelinus replied that this had been covered by the questionnaire poll of the entire membership in April 1950, and called upon the secretary for the results of the poll. Mrs. Loughran pointed out that, of the 3,299 members wishing change, 2 to 1 were in favor of the two-organization plan. It was agreed that only the two questions would appear on the ballot.

Katharine J. Densford (Missouri) inquired if a majority vote of the 10,000 members would be needed before the League could take any action on a vote by mail. Miss Mayo explained that according to the Bylaws a majority vote is necessary at a convention and a plurality of those voting is necessary by mail. R. Louise McManus (New York) asked if she was correct in her understanding that it would be legal to take a majority vote on the structure question at the present convention. Miss Mayo said it would be legal but not desirable inasmuch as only a small proportion of the membership was present. Miss Goosray added that the League had led its entire membership to believe that every member would be given the opportunity to express her preference.

Anna D. Wolf suggested that any changes in functions proposed under the two-organization plan since the publication of the 1949 structure handbook be listed as separate issues on the ballot. It was her opinion that the recommendations of the Committee on the Continuation of League Functions Under the Proposed Two-Organization Plan be explained in full, particularly since the League's and the ANA's interpretation of the legal aspects of several structure problems were not identical. Mrs. Loughran pointed out that the conflicting testimony given at League meetings and ANA meetings was to be expected, since discussion must of necessity be on a theoretical level until a structure plan is actually adopted. Miss Goosray explained that it would be almost impossible to decide subsidiary issues until the main issue of whether or not the membership wishes a two-organization plan is decided; if the plan is adopted, subsidiary issues can then be presented to the membership for a vote. It was agreed that only the main issue would be placed on the ballot and that further questions would be submitted to the membership at a later date if, in the opinion of the Board, this was considered necessary.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON RESOLUTIONS

The Committee on Resolutions recommends that the following resolutions be adopted by the members of the National League of Nursing Education at its Fifty-fourth Convention.

Be it Resolved

1. That we express to Mrs. Genevieve K. Bixler, retiring lay member of the Board of Directors, our appreciation for her deep interest in nursing education and her enthusiastic support of progressive developments in nursing.

2. That we express our sincere thanks to the Committee on Convention Arrangements—Mildred E. Newton, Grace E. Ringressy and Hannah M. Binhammer, chairman—for the excellent planning of our meetings, and to Blanche G. Oslund, chairman of monitors, and to Eleanor Lewis, chairman of meal functions, for their many courtesies.

3. That we express to the Committee on Program—Margaret B. Allen, Mary E. Brackett, Edna B. Groppe, Mrs. Alice Ingmire, Mildred Montag, Dorothy Weddige, Mrs. Dorrit D. Sledge, co-chairman, and Bernice E. Anderson, chairman—our thanks for their efforts in providing an interesting program.

4. That we express to the California League of Nursing Education our thanks for its generous hospitality.

Be it further Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be presented to those individuals and groups specifically mentioned in these resolutions.

Respectfully submitted,

THEODORA FLOYD, Chairman
LUCIA ALLYN
MARTHA JOHNSON

APPRECIATION TO MISS MAYO

On behalf of the membership, Anna D. Wolf expressed deep appreciation to Adelaide A. Mayo for her untiring devotion to the League throughout her ten years of service.

1951 CONVENTION

The president announced that the next meeting of the National League of Nursing Education would be held in Boston, Massachusetts, May 7-11, 1951. The meeting adjourned at 10:30 a.m.
MEETING OF THE COUNCIL OF STATE LEAGUES

Friday, May 12—10:30 a.m.—12:30 p.m.

The post-convention meeting of the Council of State Leagues, held in the Auditorium of California Hall, was open to the public. The meeting was called to order by Agnes Gelinas, the chairman, and the presidents or their alternates of forty state leagues responded to the roll call.

The chairman stated that the purpose of the meeting was to provide for an exchange of ideas and suggestions between the state league presidents and the NLNE Board of Directors concerning activities for the coming year. Questions which had arisen at the convention were presented for possible discussion on the agenda as follows: how to promote a free flow of ideas between the local and state leagues and the National League; how to promote the study of the philosophy underlying federal aid to nursing education; how to implement the NLNE statement of principles on the local, state, and national level; dates of future conventions and pre-biennial convention institutes; the possibility of state leagues forming groups to support regional consultants in curriculum development to work closely with the NLNE Department of Services to Schools of Nursing; the possibility of supporting a special project on early nursing source materials in local leagues; and methods of conducting the next survey of schools of nursing.

Miss Gelinas stated that these items were subject to approval and that the state league presidents might suggest other topics which they wished to discuss. Anna D. Wolf (Maryland) called for a discussion of the report of the Joint Committee on Careers in Nursing inasmuch as there had been no time for discussion when the report was presented at the joint program meeting on the previous Wednesday.

JOINT COMMITTEE ON CAREERS IN NURSING

With relation to the committee's activities, Miss Wolf asked what specific plans had been made for interesting college students in nursing. Theresa I. Lynch, chairman of the committee, said that a new pamphlet, "Nursing and College—You Can Have Both" was expected off the press in two months and would be sent to both colleges and high schools; it would contain information for college students about nursing as a profession, opportunities for college women in nursing, and schools of nursing offering collegiate programs. Muriel C. Henry, director of public relations, added that plans were under way to make available to deans of women's colleges publications and mailing lists through which they could obtain information on nursing for dissemination to college students, and that representatives of the Committee on Careers had attended the annual meeting of Deans of Women. Henrietta A. Loughran, League secretary, suggested that a more direct method of distributing the material might be through the Association of University Registrars, which is composed of executives from various colleges who are working together on a guidance program for students.

Alma E. Gault (Tennessee) raised the point that a large amount of recruiting work must be done by state and local committees, yet hospitals and schools in the state hesitate to support them because they have already contributed to the national committee. Sister Mary Allen (Michigan) reported that the same condition existed in Detroit. Miss Gault asked if some plan might be devised whereby recruitment funds could be shared by the national committee and the state and local groups. Mrs. Henry agreed that this was a most important question, and said it would be referred to the national committee for consideration. Miss Wolf made the suggestion that all of the public health agencies, federal services, hospitals without schools of nursing, and other consumers of nursing service be solicited for funds, since securing adequate nursing service for the public is a public responsibility. Miss Lynch replied that every hospital in the United States and every commercial firm which had profited from nurses, such as uniform, drug, and publishing companies, had been approached, yet a total of only $1,000 had been received from these business sources.

In answer to Mrs. Loughran's question as to the work done by the state leagues in taking responsibility for the organization and administration of state and local committees on careers in nursing, Anna Steffen (California) said that the Committee on Careers of the California league, in cooperation with the California Hospital Association, had formed a student nurse recruitment committee, and had asked for representation from other organizations such as the State Nurses' Association, the State Organization for Public Health Nursing, the Federation of Women's Clubs, the Parent-Teachers Association, and student nurse organizations. While substantial amounts were contributed by the Hospital Association, finances still remain the greatest problem. Miss Steffen strongly advocated the distribution of more literature on collegiate programs in nursing not only for the benefit of students, but for furthering the understanding of such programs among League members and counselors in schools.

Margaret B. Allen (New Jersey) reported that the Committee on Student Personnel Program in New Jersey was in much the same position as the recruiting committees in California and Tennessee. While efforts were being made to inform high school guidance counselors about nursing education, there were not enough funds for the implementation of an effective program. During the past year, counselors were invited to attend league meetings, and a special program was held for their benefit, but the turnout was disappointing. For these reasons, Miss Allen was of the opinion that a plan for dividing funds between the national committee and the local groups might be desirable.

Beatrice E. Kinney (New York) said that the New York committee was publishing a list of approved schools in the state, along with some information about each, for distribution to schools of nursing, high schools, and guidance counselors throughout the state. In addition, the six local leagues have committees on careers in nursing functioning in cooperation with the district nurses' associations, all of which have been active during the year in sponsoring open house parties and similar types of programs.

Arlene Thompson (Hawaii) said that the Hawaii committee was working very closely with the Department of Public Instruction in Honolulu, which was assisting with publicity going to universities and high schools, and in giving League tests. The committee was planning to conduct an institute in the fall for counselors in high schools. In addition, a nurse chosen by the League and financed by the hospital schools of nursing in Honolulu was doing recruitment work on the neighboring islands.

A League member from Maryland spoke of the close cooperation between the state nursing organizations and the hospital association in getting nursing information to the public, particularly through guidance counselors and conferences with high school students. A new experiment in the way of conferences which proved most successful was conducted in one Baltimore high school when two student nurses, guidance counselors, and faculty members discussed nursing education with the student body.

Frances H. Cunningham (Ohio) said that although in Ohio there was no state league committee on careers in nursing, every local league had an active committee working through and supported by the surrounding community. In Cleveland, $6,000 was given to the league by the Cleveland Foundation for a promotional program on careers; this was in turn given to the Cleveland Council on Community Nursing which was better equipped for the project. Miss Cunningham made the plea that all leagues seek the support of other community organizations for more successful recruitment programs. With regard to pamphlets and other literature on nursing, she asked that they contain a definition of "collegiate schools of nursing" and an explanation of how these schools function, inasmuch as both high school and college students had received so much confusing material on schools of nursing having only loose connections with colleges.

Elizabeth McIntosh (Missouri), president of the St. Louis league, agreed with Miss Cunningham's proposal that projects on careers in nursing be shared with other community organizations, pointing out that the St. Louis league, working jointly with the Third District of the State Nurses' Association through the Community Council, had found that lay leadership and participation had added immensely to the success of recruitment projects. On behalf of the State Council of University and College Counselors, she requested that future literature for dissemination to students contain some of the disadvantages rather than just the advantages of a career in nursing.

Alliene Tilley (District of Columbia) reported on the recruitment program in Washington carried on by the Graduate Nurses' Association, with the nursing schools themselves taking a very active part in promoting careers in nursing to both boys and girls in high schools throughout the district. Local radio stations had been generous in donating time for programs, and the interest and participation of student nurses had added greatly to their success. Mrs. Tilley made the suggestion that high school students be encouraged to take home any material on careers in nursing for the perusal of their parents, and that this information be more detailed, especially in the interpretation of the various types of programs being offered. Miss Allen of New Jersey seconded this suggestion.

Miss Lynch thanked the Council for its opinions, stating that every effort would be made by the national committee to concentrate on the points raised in the discussion.

EXCHANGE OF IDEAS BETWEEN HEADQUARTERS AND THE STATE AND LOCAL LEAGUES

Miss Gelinas called the Council’s attention to the fact that although booklets on such subjects as nursing service, tuberculosis nursing, and orthopedic nursing were published by League Headquarters, reactions to the material were unknown inasmuch as there had not been a sufficient exchange of ideas and suggestions between the state and local leagues and the National League. With regard to such publications, Lyndon McCarron (Massachusetts) said that she had noted the scarcity of them in institutions without schools of nursing which accepted student nurses for affiliations. She suggested that the directors of these institutions be notified of publications so that students could have better materials with which to work.

Marjorie Bartholf (Texas) was of the opinion that the League Letter promotes the flow of ideas from Headquarters to the state leagues. Louise Carlson (Pennsylvania) raised the point that, while the League Letter had helped considerably, there was still no unified approach to problems in nursing education, and this could not be accomplished until information is sent to Headquarters from the state and local groups. Anna D. Wolf (Maryland) agreed, stressing the responsibility of every league to keep Headquarters informed as to its programs and studies so that the information might be passed on and shared with others.

With regard to the League Letter, Miss Wolf said the Board of Directors of her league recommended that it be sent to the entire membership because the limited number of persons now receiving it, such as presidents of state and local leagues and directors of schools of nursing, could not be certain that every member had the opportunity to see it. The Maryland Board believed further that less frequent letters to all members would be more acceptable to the majority than more frequent ones to only a few. In the event that such a plan were to be carried out, Martha Keaton (Oklahoma) suggested that the League Letters for members residing in one state be sent in a single bundle and then distributed by the state league, in order to save on postage at Headquarters. Viana McCown (South Carolina) reported that this was already being done by her league, which had been buying extra copies for distribution to the membership through its Committee on Information. Miss Bartholf reported that the Texas state league sends out its own letter four times a year; this includes local and state activities, and highlights the information that has appeared in the national League Letter.

It was moved by Miss Wolf, seconded by Theodora Floyd (Georgia), and carried that the NLNE Board of Directors give consideration to the distribution of the League Letter to all members of the League.

FEDERAL AID FOR NURSING EDUCATION

Miss Gelinas, speaking for the Committee to Consider Federal Legislation on Nursing Education, requested that state and local leagues and groups of institutions study the statement of philosophy underlying federal aid for nursing education as it appears in the 1948 Annual Report (pp. 223-226), to determine if this philosophy would be applicable to the particular group studying it.

IMPLEMENTATION OF STATEMENT OF PRINCIPLES RELATING TO ORGANIZATION, CONTROL, AND ADMINISTRATION OF NURSING EDUCATION

Sister M. Bonaventure (South Dakota) asked what information regarding application for full accreditation she should give to the hospital schools in her state, in light of the principles as adopted at the convention. Henrietta A. Loughran, League secretary, answered that hospital schools should by all means work for full accreditation; the first step would be to develop sound educational programs. In addition, every League member should make clear the following point to nurses in her home state: the chief interest of the League is in seeing that nursing education programs are sound, not that they become collegiate programs immediately. Lulu K. Wolf, a member of the Board of Directors, then proposed that the major step a faculty might take in moving its school forward would be to decide what that school needs most and how it can be obtained. For example, head nurses lacking preparation in administrative techniques might be granted leave of absence to take courses or be given additional training on the job under well-prepared personnel; arrangements might be made for student nurses to obtain learning experiences in other-than-hospital community agencies; or a plan for enriching the clinical experience of students might be worked out one year and put into effect the next. Miss Wolf explained that it would be impossible for schools of nursing to reach the university level of education next year, or within the next five, ten, or even twenty years. As the nursing profession clearly recognizes, there are not enough faculty members at the present time who could function on the university level; it will take ten or fifteen years to develop such personnel. In the meantime, League members could start implementing the principles by analyzing and evaluating their own programs and taking immediate steps to enrich them.

R. Louise McManus spoke of the responsibility of the university programs in preparing nurses for faculty positions in universities, so that nursing may eventually find a secure place within the university. Another responsibility of university programs, in her opinion, is to offer graduates of hospital schools opportunity to broaden the base of their professional preparation so that it is equivalent to that of graduates of good collegiate programs. In this respect, she mentioned the action of the New York State Board of Nurse Examiners in authorizing all collegiate and university schools offering programs in basic nursing to admit graduate nurses to qualify for a bachelor's degree provided they meet the same standards as the graduates of the regular collegiate programs.

Mrs. McManus emphasized the difference between the two types of university programs for graduate nurses—those which are on the bachelor's level and those which are "advanced" in the academic sense—and emphasized the need for a definition of what the nursing profession means by "advanced." She pointed out that it would be premature to expect all programs offering instruction to graduate nurses to move into the graduate school of the university at this time because all graduate nurses are not yet prepared to work on a graduate level in the university meaning of the term, but she suggested that such a development might be a goal for the future.

SECOND SURVEY OF SCHOOLS OF NURSING

Helen C. Goodale, secretary of the National Committee for the Improvement of Nursing Services, presented in question-and-answer form issues raised during the convention in relation to the second survey of schools of nursing:

1. Should hospital schools of nursing apply for national accreditation?

   Yes. Hospital schools which are contemplating national accreditation or expect to be able to qualify within the next few years should continue to work toward that goal.

2. Will visits to schools which have already applied for regular accreditation have to be postponed until the temporary accreditation program is completed?

   No. There will be no interruption in the services now offered by the National Nursing Accrediting Service.

3. Can the same criteria be used for temporary accreditation that are used for regular accreditation?

   Further consideration must be given to this question. On the one hand, two sets of criteria might be confusing; on the other, if temporary accreditation were based on the criteria used for regular accreditation the list of nationally recognized schools of nursing would of necessity be quite small inasmuch as many schools of nursing are not yet in a position to meet the standards of regular accreditation.

4. Will schools of nursing be expected to bear the expenses for both temporary and regular accreditation?

It is probable that the schools will have to pay for temporary accreditation, but every attempt will be made to see that the cost is within the reach of all schools. At the present time, regular accreditation is paid for by the schools; whether or not this situation will continue indefinitely has not been decided.

5. In place of a personal visit from an accrediting representative in the second survey of schools, would it be possible to send all schools the schedules and questionnaires used for regular accreditation, have them filled out and returned, and then have the NNAS counsel the schools by mail, pointing out their deficiencies and weaknesses?

Most of the opposition to the interim classification was based largely on the fact that no personal visit was made to the schools. This opposition came not only from directors of schools and hospital administrators, but from responsible citizens as well. Therefore, the national nursing organizations are almost obligated to have personal visits to schools included in the second survey.

ITEMS TO BE INCLUDED IN THE LEAGUE PROGRAM FOR 1950

It was moved by Anna D. Wolf (Maryland), seconded by Mary F. Luvisi (Florida), and carried that the items which might be included in a planned program for 1950 for the National League of Nursing Education, as presented at the first meeting of the Council of State Leagues, be accepted.

FUTURE CONVENTIONS AND PRE-BIENNIAL CONVENTION INSTITUTES

Adelaide A. Mayo, executive director, called for discussion on dates for future conventions of the League. It was generally agreed that the most convenient time for the majority of members was the month of May.

Miss Mayo then reported that the Committee on Program had suggested that the League hold pre-convention institutes on the years of the biennial conventions so that more programs might be devoted exclusively to League interests. Alma E. Gault (Tennessee), speaking as a nursing school representative rather than as a member of the Council, approved of more programs but pointed out that many institutions and agencies probably would not be represented at pre-convention institutes because a good number of nurses would be unable to leave their positions for such an extended period of time. Marjorie Bartholf (Texas) suggested that League meetings be held annually, but on different dates from the biennial. Henrietta A. Loughran, League secretary, spoke in favor of pre-biennial institutes even if the attendance had to be limited, pointing out that such a plan had proved most successful for the ACSN and that any material produced at institutes could be written up and circulated to the membership. Anna D. Wolf (Maryland) proposed that an institute might be held as an experiment prior to the next biennial convention. An informal poll of members in the audience showed that the majority were in favor.

The meeting adjourned at 12:30 p.m.

ARTICLE I

MEMBERSHIP

SECTION 1. Members in the National League of Nursing Education shall be classified as follows:

A. Nurse members with qualifications as set forth in Sections 2 and 3:
   Active, including sustaining

B. Lay members with qualifications as stated under Section 4:
   Active, including sustaining

C. Honorary members as defined in Section 5

SEC. 2. An applicant for nurse membership shall, after October 1, 1949, qualify by:

a. (1) Having been graduated from a school of nursing accredited by the legally authorized state accrediting agency and connected with a hospital having a daily average of 50 patients during the final year of the applicant's course and offering a program consisting of practice and instruction in medical, surgical, obstetric, and pediatric nursing; or
   (2) Having been graduated from a school of nursing accredited by the legally authorized state accrediting agency and connected with a hospital having a daily average of from 30 to 49 patients, and either having had in her undergraduate course an affiliation or affiliations of not less than six months in a state-accredited school of nursing connected with a hospital having a minimum daily average of 100 patients, or having completed satisfactorily, after graduation, a course or courses of not less than six months; or
   (3) Having been graduated from a school of nursing in a foreign country, such school of nursing having been accredited by a board or other authority constituted for that purpose in the country in which such school of nursing is located.

b. Having become a registered nurse in one or more states.

c. Being a member of the American Nurses' Association.

d. (1) Holding a position carrying administrative or teaching responsibilities in a school of nursing or educational organization or health agency or in a government service employing nurses; or
   (2) Holding a position as director of nursing service in a hospital without a school of nursing; or
   (3) Holding a position as administrator or instructor in a school of practical nursing approved by the legally authorized state accrediting agency or the National Association for Practical Nurse Education.

e. (1) Being approved for active membership by a state or local league; or
   (2) Being approved for active individual membership by the executive director.

SEC. 3. A sustaining member is an active member interested in furthering the financial welfare of the League, who has paid the dues required of such membership.

SEC. 4. An applicant for lay membership shall qualify for active or sustaining membership by:

a. (1) Having been or being a member of a board of trustees of a hospital conducting a school of nursing; or
   (2) Having been or being a member of a school of nursing committee; or
   (3) Having been or being a member of a board of trustees or of a faculty of a college or university concerned with nursing education; or
(4) Having been or being a member of a board or a committee member of a public health agency concerned with nursing education for student or graduate nurses; or

(5) Having been or being a member of the administrative or teaching staff of a school of nursing; or

(6) Having made or making important surveys or studies or other recognized contributions to nursing education.

b. (1) Being approved for lay membership by a state or local league; or

(2) Being approved for lay individual membership by the executive director.

Sec. 5. Honorary membership may be conferred by a unanimous vote of the voting body at the annual convention or business meeting on persons who have rendered distinguished service or valuable assistance to the nursing profession, the names having been recommended by the Board of Directors. Honorary membership shall not be conferred on more than two persons at any convention. Honorary members do not pay dues.

Sec. 6. a. An applicant for active membership in the National League of Nursing Education shall be accepted in one of four ways:

(1) As a member of a local league of nursing education, which gives automatic membership in state leagues and the National League of Nursing Education; or

(2) As a member of a state league where there is no local league, which gives automatic membership in the National League of Nursing Education; or

(3) As an individual member if residing in a state which has no state league, or upon special action of the Board of Directors; or

(4) As an individual member if residing in a state where Negro nurses are not eligible for membership in the state league. Membership in the National Association of Colored Graduate Nurses will be accepted in lieu of membership in the American Nurses’ Association.

b. An applicant desiring to join the National League of Nursing Education as an individual member shall make application on a form furnished by the executive director. The form, after being properly filled in, shall be sent with the required dues to the executive director.

Sec. 7. An active member in good standing in any state league who changes her residence to another state may be admitted by transfer, upon request to the executive director of the National League of Nursing Education who will notify the treasurers of both state leagues of such transfer. A member who has paid her dues for the current year before transferring to another state league will receive a membership card from and be granted full membership privileges by the state league to which she has transferred without further payment of dues for the current year. A member who transfers to another state league before she has paid her current dues will pay such dues to the state (or local) league to which she is transferring. A member living in one state and working in another or temporarily located in a state may be permitted to continue her membership in the state of her choice.

Sec. 8. An active member who is not permanently located may retain her membership on an individual basis by paying dues directly to the National League of Nursing Education.

Sec. 9. An active member who has withdrawn from the National League of Nursing Education or whose membership has lapsed on account of nonpayment of dues may be reinstated by paying the regular annual dues for the current year to the state in which she is a resident, except as provided in Section 7 or in Section 8.
ARTICLE II

Officers

SECTION 1. The officers of the National League of Nursing Education shall consist of a president, a vice president, a secretary, and a treasurer, all of whom shall be nurses. These four officers, and eight directors, one of whom shall always be a lay member, and, as ex officio members, the president of the American Nurses’ Association, the president of the National Organization for Public Health Nursing, the editor of the American Journal of Nursing, and the executive director, shall constitute a Board of Directors.

ARTICLE III

ELECTIONS AND VOTING

SECTION 1. a. The president, the treasurer, and four directors shall be elected in the even-numbered years to serve for two years. The vice president, the secretary, and four directors shall be elected in the odd-numbered years to serve for two years.

b. All elections of officers and directors referred to in Section 1. a. of this Article and three members of the Committee on Nominations referred to in Article 2. a. shall be held by mail within two months preceding the annual convention or business meeting. All elections shall be by ballot. All elections shall be had by plurality vote.

c. Each officer shall hold office until the adjournment of the annual meeting at which her successor has been elected.

d. In the event of a vacancy in the Board membership, the Board of Directors shall fill the vacancy until the next election.

SEC. 2. Upon authorization by the Board of Directors, any proposed change in the organizational structure or any proposal for the dissolution of the National League of Nursing Education and the transfer of its assets to a successor corporation may be submitted to the membership for a vote by mail ballot, either in conjunction with or apart from any meeting of the membership. In any such vote upon a proposal for dissolution, the affirmative vote of a majority of the members voting, and in any other vote by mail ballot the affirmative vote of a plurality of the members voting, shall constitute approval of the proposed action.

SEC. 3. a. The president shall appoint the necessary tellers of election.

b. All members whose dues have been received at Headquarters by the first day of the month preceding the month of the annual convention or business meeting shall receive ballots. Ballots, enclosed in special envelopes, shall be returned to Headquarters by the date indicated annually.

c. Tellers shall count and record all votes, and all records shall be checked by an auditor, and a certified and sealed report shall be given to the secretary.

ARTICLE IV

DUTIES OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS AND OFFICERS

SECTION 1. The Board of Directors shall:

a. Act as trustees of the nursing profession for the advancement of nursing education.

b. Establish broad objectives to be achieved by the National League of Nursing Education.

c. Determine basic policies to be followed in achieving the broad objectives.
d. Develop programs outlining general methods to be used by operating staff in executing the approved policies.

e. Select members of the Board to serve on its advisory committees.

f. Review and approve annual budgets.

g. Select an executive director and give her adequate authority to manage and direct activities of the National League of Nursing Education in accordance with established policies and programs.

b. Annually review progress being made by the executive director in executing her responsibilities.

i. Hold an annual meeting and meet at other times at the call of the president or request of five or more members of the Board.

j. Appoint committees as provided for in Article V.

SEC. 2. The president shall:

a. Preside at conventions and at all meetings of the Board of Directors, Executive Committee, and the Council of State Leagues and be a member ex officio of all committees except the Committee on Nominations.

b. Report to the Board of Directors at its meetings and to the membership at the annual convention or business meeting.

c. Perform all duties as may be incident to her office.

SEC. 3. The vice president shall perform the duties of the president in her absence or during her inability to act and such other duties as may be delegated to her by the president.

SEC. 4. The secretary shall:

a. Keep the minutes of the convention or business meeting and of the meetings of the Board of Directors and of the Council of State Leagues.

b. Report at each annual convention or upon request the policies established and action taken at all business meetings of the membership.

r. Send a notice of the annual convention to each member at least one month in advance.

d. Within one month after retiring, deliver to the new secretary all books, papers, and reports of the League in her custody with a supplemental report covering all transactions from January 1 to the close of the annual convention.

SEC. 5. The treasurer shall:

a. Serve as chairman of the Committee on Finance.

b. Report to the membership the financial standing of the League at each annual convention and upon request.

SEC. 6. The executive director shall:

a. Be chief operating executive of all National League of Nursing Education activities.

b. Formulate and recommend policies and programs to the Board of Directors.

c. Carry out policies and programs approved by the Board of Directors.

d. Administer, coordinate, and control the activities of the Headquarters staff.

e. Develop a basic organization plan and select executive personnel.

f. Direct the development of financial budgets for all activities.

g. Be an ex officio member of all committees except the Committee on Nominations.
b. Represent the National League of Nursing Education in planning and checking the results of activities entered into as joint projects with other organizations.

i. Administer programs of the Joint Board of the Six National Nursing Organizations assigned to the League.

j. Appoint members of any committee requested by a department to assist it in carrying out a designated function. She shall select these members from names submitted by the executive officer of the department requesting the committee. She shall dissolve the committee after consultation with the executive officer.

ARTICLE V

COMMITTEES

SECTION 1. Committees of the Board.

a. The Executive Committee shall:
   (1) Consist of five Board members, two of whom shall be the president and executive director.
   (2) Transact Board business that arises between Board meetings except the establishment of policy.

b. The Committee on Finance shall:
   (1) Consist of four Board members, two of whom shall be the treasurer and executive director.
   (2) Act as general financial advisers to the Board of Directors.
   (3) Review the annual budget submitted by the executive director.
   (4) Present the budget, with recommendations, to the Board of Directors.
   (5) Establish general financial policies concerning the handling of funds and the designation of banks in which funds are deposited.
   (6) Determine and supervise the making of investments.
   (7) Review and approve major expenditures before they are made.
   (8) Provide for the annual audit and review the report with the auditor.
   (9) Act in advisory capacity to the executive director.

c. Advisory committees as needed shall:
   (1) Consist of at least two or three Board members. A Board member shall be chairman of each committee.
   (2) Act in advisory capacity to the Board on problems and policies pertaining to any of its functions.

SEC. 2. Committees of the National League of Nursing Education. Committees of the National League of Nursing Education shall be appointed as needed by the Board except as herein provided.

a. The Committee on Nominations. The committee shall consist of five members. The chairman and one other member shall be appointed by the president and three members shall be elected by ballot as provided in Article III, Section 2.

On or about September 1 preceding the annual convention, this committee shall issue to each state league a form on which the state league shall submit the name of one nominee for each office to be filled and one for the Committee on Nominations. This form shall be signed by the president or secretary of the state league and returned to the Committee on Nominations of the National League of Nursing Education before December 1 preceding the annual convention.
From the forms returned by the state leagues, the Committee on Nominations shall prepare a ticket consisting of two names of the nominees receiving the highest number of votes for each office, eight names for the office of directors, and six names for the Committee on Nominations. If the list of names submitted is not sufficient to form a ticket, the Committee on Nominations shall have power to add names so that a full ticket may be made up. No name shall be presented to the Board of Directors by the Committee on Nominations unless the nominee has consented and is free to serve if elected. This report shall be in the hands of the secretary by January 1 and the ticket published in the American Journal of Nursing when approved by the Board of Directors.

Sec. 3. Each committee shall present a written report of its activities to the annual convention and to the Board of Directors as requested, and keep the executive director informed of its work, as may be indicated, during the year.

ARTICLE VI

DUES

Section 1. The annual dues for all active members of the National League of Nursing Education shall be $5.00.

a. In states where there is a state league, dues ($5.00) for all active members shall be paid through the state league on the basis of membership as of March 1 of each year, except for the first year of membership, when dues shall be paid at the time of application.

b. In states where there is no state league, dues ($5.00) shall be paid directly to the National League of Nursing Education. Dues shall accompany application.

Sec. 2. The annual dues for sustaining members shall be $13.00, which shall entitle the members to receive pamphlets published by the League during the year, not to exceed $2.50 in value.

a. In states where there is a state league, dues ($13.00) for all sustaining members shall be paid through the state league on the basis of membership as of March 1 of each year, except in the first year of membership, when dues shall be paid at the time of application.

b. In states where there is no state league, dues ($13.00) shall be paid directly to the National League of Nursing Education. Dues shall accompany application.

Sec. 3. Any state leagues or individual members failing to pay the annual dues by the first day of April shall receive a notice from the treasurer, and if the dues are not paid within two months, they shall forfeit all privileges of membership. Active members having forfeited their membership may be reinstated upon the payment of dues for the fiscal year.

ARTICLE VII

MEETINGS

Section 1. A convention or business meeting of the National League of Nursing Education shall be held annually. In the even-numbered years it shall be held conjointly with the convention of the American Nurses' Association; in the odd-numbered years it shall be held at such time and place as shall be determined by the Board of Directors.
SEC. 2. The business at each convention shall include:
   a. Reading of the minutes
   b. Annual reports of secretary, treasurer, and executive director
   c. Annual reports of presidents of all state leagues of nursing education
   d. Annual reports of committees
   e. Address by the president
   f. Miscellaneous business
   g. Announcement of election of officers and directors and members of the Committee on Nominations

ARTICLE VIII
REPRESENTATION

SECTION 1. The voting body at the annual convention of the National League of Nursing Education shall consist of active and sustaining members of state leagues in good standing, and individual active and sustaining members in good standing.

ARTICLE IX
QUORUM

SECTION 1. A quorum of the Board of Directors shall be eight members.
SEC. 2. A quorum of the Executive Committee shall be three members.
SEC. 3. A quorum of the Council of State Leagues shall be ten members other than the officers.
SEC. 4. Members from fifteen states shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business at any annual convention.

ARTICLE X
FISCAL YEAR

SECTION 1. The fiscal year of this association shall be the calendar year.

ARTICLE XI
COUNCIL OF STATE LEAGUES

SECTION 1. The officers of the National League of Nursing Education and the presidents of the state leagues shall constitute a Council of State Leagues.
SEC. 2. The duties of the Council of State Leagues shall be to keep the National League informed of the progress of nursing education in the states represented and promote programs of the National League of Nursing Education.
SEC. 3. Meetings of the Council of State Leagues shall be held in connection with each annual convention or business meeting and at any other time as called by the Board of Directors. The members shall report on the work in their respective state leagues.
SEC. 4. In the absence of its president a state league may be represented in the Council of State Leagues by an alternate appointed by the state league.
ARTICLE XII

STATE LEAGUES

SECTION 1. Where the term "state league" is used in these Bylaws, the word "state" shall be understood to apply equally to any state of the United States of America, to the District of Columbia, or to any territory, possession, or dependency of the United States of America, and the rights and privileges, responsibilities and obligations of all members in the states, the District of Columbia, the territories, possessions, or dependencies shall be the same. (See Article I, Sec. 5, Bylaws, American Nurses' Association.)

SEC. 2. A group of League members desiring to form a state league of nursing education shall make application on the form furnished by the executive director. This form shall be properly filled in and, with a copy of the proposed constitution and bylaws, shall be sent to the executive director and shall be referred by her to the Board of Directors for final approval.

ARTICLE XIII

DUTIES OF STATE LEAGUES

SECTION 1. It shall be the duty of each state league:

a. To know that all requirements for membership in the state and local leagues meet the requirements for membership in the National League of Nursing Education.

b. To know that the dues are paid by the first day of April of each year on the basis of membership the first day of March of each year.

c. To send to the executive director of the National League of Nursing Education and to the American Journal of Nursing the names and addresses of all officers immediately after their election or appointment, together with the date and place of the next annual meeting.

d. To report the activities of the state and local leagues at the annual convention and at such other times as may be required.

e. To promote within the state league activities the policies and programs of the National League of Nursing Education.

f. To confer with the executive director regarding changes in the state constitution and bylaws. All proposed changes shall be sent for approval to the executive director in duplicate, together with two copies of the old constitution and bylaws. Upon the adoption of any changes, the state league shall send one copy of the revised bylaws to the executive director.

g. To help organize local leagues, when desired.

h. To provide official representation, as a member of the Council of State Leagues, at each annual convention.

ARTICLE XIV

PARLIAMENTARY AUTHORITY

SECTION 1. Deliberations of all meetings of the National League shall be governed by Robert's Rules of Order Revised.
ARTICLE XV

THE OFFICIAL ORGAN

SECTION 1. The American Journal of Nursing shall be the official organ of the National League of Nursing Education.

ARTICLE XVI

AMENDMENTS

SECTION 1. These Bylaws may be amended at any annual convention by a two-thirds vote of the active members present and voting. All proposed amendments shall be in the possession of the secretary at least two months before the date of the annual convention and be appended to the call of the meeting.

SEC. 2. These Bylaws may be amended at any annual convention by the unanimous vote of the active members present and voting, without previous notice.
