PUENTES DE SALUD

Puentes de Salud provides high-quality health care, community building, and educational programs to the growing Latino population in South Philadelphia. Via the Food Pharmacy program, all patients who visit our clinic are screened for food insecurity. For patients who screen positive, emergency supply of culturally appropriate staple foods that represent a balanced diet are provided. The goal is that this supply will last until patients begin to receive more extensive food support from our Despensa program or a Puentes de Salud partner organization. The food pharmacy is staffed by Puentes de Salud promotoras and is open during weekly clinic hours. Nutritional information and specific options that are appropriate for diabetes management are provided, given the high incidence of this condition among patients.
